

SECTION 6.0. REPRIEVE Website Resources

The REPRIEVE website got a new look! The website has been redesigned to focus more on participant retention. Sites are encouraged to direct participants to the REPRIEVE website to stay up-to-date on trial news, read informative blogs and REPRIEVE participant newsletters. New additions to the REPRIEVE website and how sites and participants can use them are outlined below.

6.1. Meet REPRIEVE Participants/Share Your REPRIEVE Story

The REPRIEVE Website features profiles on REPRIEVE participants from around the globe. Sharing these with participants may help them feel a sense of community within the trial. If any participants would like to share their story or what REPRIEVE/being part of research means to them, they will be able to submit comments directly on the website! These comments will be reviewed before being posted.

6.2. REPRIEVE Community Advisory Board Page

Participants and sites can view profiles of the REPRIEVE Community Advisory Board members to learn more about what REPRIEVE participants are doing in the trial and community at large. Additionally, participants can express interest in joining the REPRIEVE CAB by clicking the “Interested in Joining? Click Here” button!

6.3. Follow YOUR Heart Blog

The REPRIEVE Follow YOUR Heart campaign publishes monthly My Heart Matters blogs designed to break down the key points about hot-topic issues in a way that makes the topic simple and quick to understand. Though many of the blogs are women focused, some topics apply to all REPRIEVE participants. Some of the most recent and popular blog posts are hyperlinked below.

Vaping and E-Cigarettes: How do they affect my heart health? - By Diana Cagliero, MA

Nutrition Information Labels & Heart Healthy Diets: Things You Should Know - By Diana Cagliero, MA

[A Midlife \[Symptom\] Crisis](#) - By Sara E. Looby, PhD

6.4 REPRIEVE Participant Newsletter

The REPRIEVE Participant Newsletter is an excellent tool to provide participants with useful information about REPRIEVE and heart health in general. It is designed for participants with friendly, easy to understand messages, and eye-catching graphics. Voices of other REPRIEVE Participants are also included in the Newsletter. The newsletter is translated into 6 languages: French, Spanish, Haitian Creole, Portuguese, Afrikaans, and Xhosa. All languages are posted on the REPRIEVE website. Printed copies for your site can be requested from Emma Kileel by emailing ekileel@mgh.harvard.edu.
